

Dear Family and Friends,

THE DROUGHT

Our worries about the continuing drought have faded away this year. As we write this letter we have received 49 inches of rain and long range forecasts indicate that there is more to come. The last time we had a season like this was shortly after we planted our orchard. That year the ground was so saturated that 65 trees literally floated out of the ground. I am happy to report that has not happened this year.

Along with the rain we have heavy fog ,but also some spectacular weather events. Some times we have major rainbows but one of the most stunning winter sky events are red sunrises. When this occurs the light streaming across the sky turns the landscape pale pink for a few moments.

REFILL TIME

This year we shipped our Olio Nuovo just in time to use “extras” for Holiday gifts. In January we started receiving email comments similar to the following: “grandma waited all year for her gift bottles and is delighted, but now I realize I did not save enough for myself.” We usually hold back a small amount to use as refills for our regular customers. So, if you are concerned about running out, just email Burt and we will send you a refill order.
